Council agrees to zone change

A transfer of properties between the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden and Gary Vasey turned out to be a one sided deal until council met May 24. The council and Mr. Vasey had entered into an agreement in July to trade two municipally owned properties on Soyer's Lake for the lot, generally known as the Welch property on Minden's Main Street.

The deal was struck in July 1983. At that time the municipality was undergoing a process for the final ratification of a new zoning bylaw. The revised bylaw indicated the Soyers Lake properties were zoned suitable for a cottage.

The former zoning bylaw indicated the lakefront property was designated open space. The zoning means the land can only be used for park purposes.

A short time after the property trade was finalized, the municipality decided it would undertake the creation of an official plan. The action meant the revised zoning bylaw would be placed on hold, effectively leaving the townships without regulations to cover construction and growth. So, the municipality decided to rescind the new bylaw, allowing the former bylaw to come back into force.

The action meant that the property accepted by Gary Vasey in the trade as two potential building lots, reacquired its former zoning of open space.

Dean Elliott, who represented the interest of Vasey at the May 24 meeting, asked the council to agree to a zoning change for the two properties. He noted that if a building permit had been issued at the time of the trade, it would still be valid today, despite the return of the old bylaw.

The members of council agreed with the presentation. "That was the intent of our trade," Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas stated. Reeve Lyle McKnight and other members of the council concurred with that assessment and a motion endorsing the zoning change was passed.

PAC will receive monthly honorarium

The question of whether to pay the municipality's Planning Advisory Committee a stipend for their services has finally been resolved. By a split vote, the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council agreed to provide non-staff members of the committee with a $25 honorarium for each regularly scheduled monthly day meeting. The decision came at the May 24 meeting.

The vote, which saw Reeve Lyle McKnight and Councillor Gary Kenney voting in opposition, with the other members in favour, culminated three meetings of discussion over the issue.

The vote had been deferred from a meeting earlier in the month because of the absence of Councillor Gary Kenney.

Kenney said he was concerned that the provision would extend payment to the members of council who are serving on the committee. He pointed out that these individuals had been elected to the council knowing the positions would include some committee responsibilities. He suggested that the stipend the councillors receive should be considered to include the services they provide to the municipality by serving on committees.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas disagreed with the stand. He noted that Councillor Pat Burke, who is employed as a school bus driver, loses income when meetings are held during the day.

"If anyone is entitled to the $25 it is those people who are serving voluntarily on the committee," Kenney said. He went on to point out that councillors could potentially be losing income in attending other committee meetings as well.

Pergolas noted the planning committee meetings often last up to five hours. He noted the municipality's severance committee receives a stipend for their work and that it was very similar to the job being done by the planning committee. He suggested that council should even consider amalgamating the duties of the two groups under a single committee.

Kenney said it was unfair for the council to select one committee for compensation and ignore the other volunteers who serve the community.

Councillor Dave Stevens, who had opposed the compensation at the previous meeting, announced that he had changed his mind on the issue and would vote in favour of the payment.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said he didn't feel the committee should be meeting during the day on all occasions. He suggested that compensation should be paid if the members of the committee are using their own cars to view the property being considered, however he said if on-site viewing of property was not required, the committee should consider holding its meetings at night.

The reeve also questioned the amount of time the committee takes to consider the matters before it. He pointed out that previously the municipal council used to handle the work being done by the committee and it was carried out during the regular council meetings.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas suggested that the Planning Advisory Committee moved through its agenda faster than the council did.

With that the vote was called and the compensation agreement was approved.

Six return safely from bush

Six men from the Minden area returned safely from Anson Township Monday morning after the motorcycles they were riding broke down and they were forced to spend the night in the bush.

The six who were reported missing included Stuart Brandon, Murray Beetlestone, Roy Simard, Jack Gubster, all residents of the Minden area and seasonal residents Grant Poley of Canning Lake and John Buchanan of Horsehoe Lake.

The six had travelled into the densely wooded area east of Minden Sunday, travelling on two wheel dirt bikes. They followed trail markers laid out by the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association.

However, since many of the snowmobile trails cross swamps and lakes, the group soon found themselves in difficult circumstances as they attempted to find alternate routes around the wet areas.

Two of the motorcycles became bogged down in mire, while the other machines were quickly running out of gasoline. The machines did not have headlamps, so as night approached, the tired crew sought out a hunt camp where they spent the night.

Meanwhile, friends and family in Minden were becoming increasingly concerned Monday evening after they did not return. A search party followed their tracks during the night, but were unable to locate the group.

On Monday morning the Ontario Provincial Police helicopter arrived in Minden to begin a search for the riders. At the same time the stranded motorcyclists began to retrace their trail back to civilization. Several of the riders were spotted by the helicopter search party as they drove along the Scotch Line Road. Others were plucked from the bush by the helicopter crew.

All of the missing men returned safely to Minden by Monday noon, tired, wet and glad to be free of the clouds of blackflies which had made their adventure less than enjoyable.

Six athletes advance to All-Ontario

Six students from Hali-burton Highlands Secondary School will be attending the all-Ontario track and field competition this weekend in Toronto. This is the highest number of students to represent HHSS at a single all-Ontario meet.

Coach Bob Colliver described the win as, "a great team effort". He said that all the participants turned in personal best times in their various competitions.

The six who were successful at the Eastern Ontario finals include:

- Leslie Tashlin who will be competing in the 80 metre hurdles and the 400 metre hurdles. She placed second in each of these events last Friday. Lesley is also a member of the 400 metre relay team and the 1600 metre relay team.

Other members of the 400 metre relay team include Lori-Ann Duguay, Lisa Sisson and Lindsey Tashlin.

The other three members of the 1600 metre relay team are Lindsey Tashlin, Heidi Tashlin and Marla Mac Naull.

Marla will also be competing in the senior girls 400 meter run. She placed third in that competition last Friday to qualify for the all-Ontario meet.

The 400 metre relay team was first last Friday while the 1600 metre team was second.

Colliver said the team members had been outstanding in training and competing this year. He pointed out that most of the members will be back next season and will provide a solid nucleus on which to build the team.

For the moment, however, their attention is on Centennial Stadium in Toronto where they will meet Ontario's top track and field athletes, some of whom have already been chosen for Canada's Olympic team.

Committee will oversee curling rink operation

Terms of an agreement which would transfer control of the Minden curling facility from the Curling Club to the municipality were presented at the May 24 meeting of Anson, Hinton and Minden municipal council.

The club had requested the municipality take over formal control of the building after they received an assessment notice indicating some $6000 in property taxes would be due this year. While the municipality will take over the formal control of the structure, thus making it tax exempt, the curling club will continue to operate the facility during the winter months.

Jack Jackson, representing the curling club, presented the terms of the new management agreement worked out by the club. Final ratification of the details will be held over until the next meeting of the council when a by-law will be enacted.

According to the terms outlined by Jackson, the management and control of the building will be handled by a committee consisting of two members of the council plus the five principle officers of the curling club. The new committee will be responsible for dealing with organizations and groups wishing to use the facility outside of the curling season. As well, the agreement states that if the municipality should decide that the building could no longer be used for curling purposes the club would be allowed to remove chattels and other goods related to their activities and receive a one third portion of the building's value at the time. This last clause was inserted to recognize the contribution members of the club had made to the construction of the building in the first place.

The council will explore the possibility of making the new committee's responsibilities retroactive to the first of the year to eliminate any property tax liability for 1984.

KinArk plans children's service facility

Dorothy Easton, executive director of KinArk Child and Family Services, has announced plans for the development of a children's mental health service for children and families in Haliburton County.

A possible location for a day treatment centre for the Children's Mental Health Service has been selected by the Haliburton County Board of Education.

The Board passed a resolution at their monthly meeting on Tuesday May 22 to supply 2000 sq. ft. of building space, including services and conveniences, which would be situated adjacent to the J. Douglas Hodgson School. The resolution stated that the facility would be made available commencing in September 1984 in return for a reasonable rent, half of which will be paid by KinArk Child and Family Services.

The board chose the location because of the proximity to existing schools and because it would allow students to travel to the facility on school buses.

A final decision on the location of the day treatment facility will be made by representatives from KinArk and the Board of Education.

In February of this year, KinArk announced the closure for this summer of its thirty bed residential mental health program which has operated in Haliburton County for the past fifteen years. The residential program primarily served youngsters from outside of Haliburton County with the majority of referrals coming from the Oshawa area.

Eighteen of the residential units are being transferred to the Oshawa community as part of a new KinArk program serving the Regional Municipality of Durham. This will allow many youngsters presently involved in the program to be closer to their families and home community.

At the time of the announced closure of the Haliburton residential program, KinArk was asked by the Ministry of Community and Social Services to consider the development of a children's mental health service specifically for youngsters and families in Haliburton County. During February and March KinArk staff conducted a review of the mental health needs of children in Haliburton County. An active consultation process took place with key informants from Health, Education, Justice, and Social Service Agencies serving Haliburton County. Interviews were conducted with approximately twenty staff or representatives of twelve local agencies. Extensive use was also made of community needs studies recently completed by the Haliburton Children's Services Advisory Committee. This consultation process resulted in family counselling services, counselling for young people, and day treatment programs being identified as the priority areas requiring attention.

The new Children's Mental Health Service, to be developed by KinArk, will be a non-residential program providing counselling and support services to children and their families. As well, a day treatment program will be jointly provided by staff from KinArk and teaching staff from the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Planning for this component of the new service is currently underway between KinArk and Board of Education representatives. The overall annual budget for the new program will be approximately $250,000. The centre will be funded by the Ontario Government through the Children's Mental Health Services Act administered by the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

KinArk Child and Family Services is a private, non-profit corporation which operated Children's Mental Health Centres in seven other communities in Ontario. KinArk will continue to operate its provincial summer camp program which is located near Carnarvon in Haliburton County.

The new non-residential program is tentatively set up to open by mid-summer and should be fully operational by January of 1985. Plans for recruitment of staff and the selection of a physical location for the program are being developed.

'No' support for bilingualism

The majority of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council likes Ontario just the way it is, thank you, no need to introduce any provision to make it an official bilingual province.

That was the outcome of a split vote which followed a short debate on the proposition that the province should be bilingual. The matter was almost brushed aside when it came up on the list of correspondence received by the municipality in the past two weeks. It came in a bilingual letter from the City of Ottawa seeking the support of the municipalities in the province in pressuring the Queen's Park authorities to declare Ontario officially bilingual. The letter was read at the May 24 council meeting.

However, rather than see the matter left for "file 13" Councillor Gary Kenney and Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas combined on a resolution to get the matter on the table for discussion.

Kenney said the suggestion was a worthwhile one and that council should give the matter serious consideration. "We must recognize that Canada has two founding nations," the councillor commented. "It is not frivolous to put a little pressure on (Ontario Premier) Davis. There is no doubt that the Francophones in Ontario have more rights now than the Anglophones in Quebec do. He suggested by endorsing the resolution it would show the rest of Canada that the matter of bilingualism is being addressed here. "It does us no harm to support this resolution," he commented.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas noted that French and English were the two founding languages of the country. He said that by making the province officially bilingual, the government would simply be recognizing the efforts it has already undertaken on behalf of the province's Francophone minority.

Councillor Dave Stevens pointed out there were other minority language groups in the country which were not being offered the official status afforded English and French. "Everyone should have the right to speak his own language," he commented. "They have all been part of Canada's development."

The councillor concluded by saying that the nation's capital was supposed to be a bilingual city. He said that personal experience had taught him that it was not the case and that French was the dominant language.

Councillor Pat Burke said she could not see why such a fuss had to be made about bilingualism. "I don't understand why they need a declaration," she concluded.

Reeve Lyle McKnight

added, "Bilingualism has cost the country millions of dollars. It is the same with metric. I personally can't see the benefits in either. The federal government is controlled by the politicians from Quebec. Everyone has a right to his own culture."

The reeve added that the French in Ontario already have more rights than the English in Quebec. "The Federal government should be spending more time trying to make Quebec more bilingual rather than worrying about other provinces."

Those voting in favour of the resolution were Kenney and Pergolas while councillors Dave Stevens, Pat Burke and Reeve Lyle McKnight voted in favour.

Resort owner objects to noise

The noise from a crushing operation is having a detrimental affect on the tourist business of Henry Tracwiz.

The owner of the Old Mill Resort, just south of Carnarvon, appeared before the May 24 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council to voice his concerns.

Tracwiz said the noise of the crusher in operation had resulted in a drastic drop in business in June two years ago. He described the noise made by the machine as "obnoxious". He told the council, "When the machine was in operation, not one car stopped at my establishment. It was just too noisy."

The resort owner said the month of June was important to resort operators as people searching for a place to spend a couple of weeks during the summer months often visit during the June weekends to examine a particular resort. "If the crusher is in operation during June, I'm finished," Tracwiz told the councillors.

According to the municipal clerk treasurer, Elinor Burk, the crushing work was scheduled to take place during the next month.

Tracwiz told the council he has no objection to the crushing operation taking place during other times of the year. He pointed out that his business is reliant on the 12 week summer season.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said the council would examine the scheduling of the crushing operation and asked roads committee chairman Councillor Gary Kenney to report to council on the situation.

Provide service where needed

It is not very often that municipal councils get an opportunity to debate matters of national interest. Such was the case last Thursday evening as those seated around the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal table discovered.

The issue was not a particularly pressing one in Haliburton County, but, as the debate evolved, it was obvious that everyone holds an opinion on the importance of bilingualism. In this case the debate was prompted by a resolution from the City of Ottawa seeking municipal support for the designation of Ontario as a bilingual province.

The comments offered from the councillors no doubt reflected a sampling of opinion shared by a cross section of the community with those opposed slightly under represented. By a 3-2 vote the need for an official bilingual designation for Ontario was lost.

From a Haliburton County point of view, bilingualism is a waste of time, effort and emotion. Rarely, if ever, are French services required here. The county's Francophone population, is all but nil, and those who do speak French are able to communicate equally well in English.

In the City of Ottawa in particular and many other communities and regions in Ontario in general, the need for services in French is more obvious. Our experience has been that in those areas where the need exists the provincial government is making an effort to meet it. We are aware of concerted programs in such fields as education, courts, and front line provincial civil services which are aimed at meeting the linguistic needs of Franco-Ontarians.

We agree that in some areas there is much to be done, but we feel the provincial authorities are responding to these concerns. There would be little to be gained by an official designation at this point other than a symbolic gesture. We believe bilingualism is a laudable aim in areas where it is required, and we feel the young people of Ontario and Canada should be encouraged to acquire a fluency in a second language. But symbolism is not what is required at this time, rather the effort should be aimed at encouraging the province to continue and expand bilingual services where they are needed.

Education share drops

-by John Eakins, MPP -

The Treasurer's 1984 budget confirms the fears of all members of the province's education system. The Treasurer has conveniently ignored the truth, that for a decade, this government has forced municipalities and local ratepayers to pay an ever increasing portion of education costs. Although the Premier, in his last year as Minister of Education, promised to keep the province's share of this cost at the 60 per cent level, the provincial average share has now sunk to 48.5 percent.

Given the Treasurer's expressed concern for "visibility" of school board spending, it is equally appropriate that taxpayers, on their annual tax bills, be informed of the level of provincial support to education in their municipality. I question the willingness of the Treasurer to permit public scrutiny of the province, although he would willingly have taxpayers closely examine a local school board.

The reality of this budget is further cuts to education.

The $450 million promised over three years for youth training in the province - whether real or merely recycled - will in no way remedy the underlying problem. This government must be prepared to support the efforts of boards and teachers to help the vast majority of students for the transition to the world of work. Proliferation of new programs can't cover up the need for really basic provincial support for education.

Every single one of the Treasurer's ten points for youth training can, and should, be incorporated within our school system. Basic work skills, job placements, counselling, community service work programs, subsidized on-the-job training, youth venture capital funds and part-time employment programs are all programs delivered in some school somewhere in Ontario. Increasing these initiatives, and extending these programs - and other successful school-to-work innovations - could readily be accomplished within our schools. The experience, the ability and the commitment all exist in our teachers, principals and school board members.

The Treasurer does not want to spend any more money in the schools. It appears he is naive in his belief that declining enrolments quickly yield declining costs of education. This is simply not true. On the contrary, declining enrolments, in many respects, drive up the cost of education.

More on Budget

By now you will be aware of the 1984 budget of Treasurer Larry Grossman. Being a pre-election budget, it was true to form with no tax increases. At least none was visible to the uninitiated. Except for a 4.9% OHIP increase - $1.40 per month, it would appear that everything is for free.

What the Treasurer failed to mention was the whopping 17.2% increase in public debt interest, which amounts to $8.1 million a day - without paying a cent off the debt. The debt is the third largest expenditure following health and education. The total spending will rise 7.4% or $1.95 billion to $26.8 billion. Some restraint.

Hidden away in the budget is a $44 million hike to Ontario Hydro for water property, whatever that means. So Hydro will add this to your Hydro bill and it gets Mr. Grossman off the hook from appearing to raise taxes. Best to get someone else to be the fall guy.

It must be sadly disappointing to our tourist

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

To many of us, the term wilderness usually involves images of boreal forests. But to thousands of Toronto area residents, wilderness begins at the foot of Leslie Street in the heart of an industrial section of downtown, where the 4 kilometre long Leslie Street Spit winds out into Lake Ontario.

The landscape is of recent origin, built up by almost 4 million truck loads of fill over the past twenty-five years. Yet despite its artificial beginnings, the evolution of this landfill site as natural habitat has been spectacular. In the short space of ten years, it has been transformed from a hunk of raw rubble into a well vegetated area, with an amazing abundance of animal life. Though dominated for now by the world's largest colony of Ring-Billed Gulls, the Spit's shallow bays and willow thickets have drawn two hundred species of birds, including Hudsonian Godwits, three species of phalaropes, Horned Larks and Ringed-Necked Pheasants. For the botanist, there are more than 150 species of plants to be seen, including two considered rare in Canada: Englemann's Umbrella Sedge and fragrant Cyperus.

Originally designed as part of an enlarged harbor, which later proved unneeded, the Spit has become instead the scene of a high profile tug-of-war between user groups who have different dreams of its future. Naturalists, cyclists and joggers, who enjoy it virtually year round, want the Spit to continue its uncharted course of biological development as an aquatic park. Recreational boaters and ambitious civic officials are keen to exploit the Spit for its real estate potential and see it as a prime construction site.

The climax of this struggle is now approaching as the Metro Toronto and Region Conservation Authority prepares to hold public meetings and develop a master plan. It's not coming a minute too soon. Car traffic and boating facilities have already gained a secure foothold on the headland in the absence of a plan and in the face of three public opinion surveys which revealed majority support for leaving the area to grow wild.

Unfortunately, the very same Conservation Authority which is to sort out the conflicting demands, has also entertained proposals which envision the Spit as a veritable Coney Island. But it will do well to remember

Study shows most are satisfied with education system - improvements offered

A joint project between the Haliburton County Board of Education and the Ministry of Education of Ontario shows that a majority of parents, students and graduates are satisfied with the education system in Haliburton County but that there are areas of concern.

The Cooperative Evaluation and Development of School Systems (CEDDS) report was presented to the Board of Education trustees on Tuesday, May 22 for further consideration. The study began in May 1983 when a 16 member Advisory Committee was formed to decide what areas should be studied. The committee included representatives from the trustees, parents, the director of education, the business administrator, principals, and teachers. The members chose four areas to be studied: English from kindergarten to grade 13; intermediate mathematics (grades 7 - 10); the role of the director of education; the role of teachers and principals.

In September 1983 sub-committees were formed to examine each area employing questionnaires and interviews to gather data. The information and recommendations of the sub-committees made up the Internal Report.

This report was examined by an external team made up of educators from outside the county who then conducted interviews with teachers, principals, members of the internal review sub-committees, students and parents.

The findings of the external evaluation team were largely consistent with those of the internal team. The study showed that there is a general degree of satisfaction with the educational system in the county and that parents and students felt that both principals and teachers were very accessible for the discussion of problems.

In three of the areas studied it was shown that curriculum was not co-ordinated from kindergarten to grade 13, but left to separate jurisdictions and that there was little communication among schools and among some teachers concerning core curriculum.

The study recommended that the curriculum should be revised, updated and co-ordinated throughout the county without sacrificing the benefits of a substantial degree of autonomy in the individual schools.

The external team also recommended that the Board hire an additional person for the role of curriculum supervisor.

Discipline

It was also recommended that there should be more consistency in discipline and that workshops should be held for teachers to study transitional stages of discipline from primary through to senior divisions and to study the stresses encountered by students and teachers.

Compulsory Professional Development days, workshops and conferences for teachers were recommended to deal with teaching methods. Both students and parents saw a need for a greater variety of teaching methods and few teachers were highly satisfied with their capabilities to meet students diverse needs. The study also shows that the variety of learning approaches and classroom environments seems to diminish significantly from primary through senior divisions.

Many teachers indicated their dissatisfaction with opportunities for change and showed a willingness to trade job responsibilities for a limited period of time. The teachers also expressed the opinion that exchanging teaching duties, special assignments, sabbaticals and term appointments to positions of responsibility were beneficial to the system.

The study recommends that exchanges within the system be initiated. The external team strongly agreed with the internal team's recommendation that a committee should be formed to co-ordinate library and media facilities and services across the county. It was noted that in certain instances library facilities appear inadequate to meet the demand of the student population and that media resources are not effectively organized for board-wide sharing.

Teachers

The study of the role of teachers resulted in a recommendation that the Board establish a joint committee with the Director of Education, representatives from the Board, principals and teachers to revise Board policy on procedures for the supervision of teachers. Both teachers and principals indicated that supervision was highly appropriate but moderate to low in performance with little emphasis on teacher's personal development and growth.

The physical environment of the schools came under some criticism from teachers. The internal team reported that teachers indicated a moderate to low satisfaction with working space and physical environment but the external team found that the schools in general appeared to be in good physical shape and that principals and staff were proud of the school buildings and grounds.

The study recommended that the principal of each school present to the board a written report expressing the staff's feelings about their school's physical environment and outside property.

A moderate to low degree of satisfaction with support personnel was expressed by teachers in the internal report. The external team noted that there was little desire for increased support personnel but that teachers indicated there were needs in the areas of the design and writing of curriculum, the co-ordination and consistency of curriculum at the elementary level and individual programming for students with special needs.

Concern by parents that teachers should become more involved with students personal problems as well as job and career counselling resulted in a recommendation that proper guidance through counselling be provided to review student's programmes and to ensure that the needs of the students are being properly addressed.

English program

The study of the English programme showed that the individual language needs of some students were not being sufficiently addressed and that reading and writing skills, grammar and spelling were not sufficiently emphasized. It was noted that the implementation of language across the curriculum declines significantly from grade 8 to grade 13.

Students were asked to what extent their grammar, spelling and punctuation were checked in subjects other than English. The results showed a 40% decline between grade 8 and grade 13.

The report recommended a more effective implementation of language across the curriculum and that a mandatory writing file representative of the student's best efforts from year to year be maintained to keep track of the individual students development.

Mathematics

The study of intermediate mathematics revealed that most parents were getting adequate reporting on their children's progress but that one third of the parents surveyed indicated that they would prefer more frequent reporting, particularly parents of children who were having difficulty in mathematics. The recommendations in the study reflected this need.

A majority of parents and students indicated a distrust of the use of calculators in grades 9 and 10. The internal committee recommended that workshops or seminars should be held to educate teachers and parents on the positive ways that calculators can be used in the teaching of mathematics and that schools teaching intermediate mathematics should have at least one class set of calculators.

The internal committee also recommended that seminars or workshops should be held for parents to give them an idea on how they might assist their children with their mathematics homework. Many parents indicated that their lack of understanding of mathematics meant they could not assist their children.

The external team disagreed noting that it was the responsibility of the teachers to assist students who were having difficulty and that providing seminars to bring most parents up to the level of expertise required to provide meaningful help in the home would be very time consuming and expensive.

Director's role

The study on the role of the director of education noted that there was high praise for the contribution of Doug Hodgson and that he had set a high standard in the performance of his duties.

Recommendations were made that improved communications should be developed between the Board, the Director, the principals and the teaching staff and that an effort should be made to improve the flow of educational information to parents and the public in general.

The study also drafted a proposed job description for the director which includes his responsibilities as the chief executive officer and the secretary of the board.

The responsibility for the next phase of the project lies with the trustees. During this development phase the board will analyse the report, identify the recommendations which are of the highest priority and develop strategies to implement those recommendations.

Students of Mrs. Davis' Grade 4 class recently paid a visit to The Times office to learn how a weekly newspaper is produced. The youngsters were shown how copy for the newspaper is typeset and pasted up and were given a tour of the darkroom. Needless to say when the photographer and his camera appeared, they were more than willing to ham it up for the occasion.

A tragic loss for Canada

- by Bill Scott, MP -

The last couple of weeks have seen many events that effect us all in Victoria - Haliburton. Some have been positive and unfortunately some tragic.

We all lost a great inspiration and mentor with the death of Gordon Sinclair. As we are a region of Ontario that receives the CFRB signal, Gordon had a very staunch following in much of Victoria - Haliburton. Whether you agreed or disagreed with his commentaries, they quickly became topics of discussion. Perhaps it was his style or his illustrious background that attracted listeners. Whatever it was it will be sadly missed. The country has lost an institution.

Debate

The House of Commons has been debating several pieces of non-controversial legislation in the last while. This has caused a lull in the House activity and an increased anticipation of an

be a general feeling that we should get as many bills on the Order Paper passed as possible before the House rises in June and politics takes over from administration.

Leadership

A need for action appears to be filtering into the Liberal lack-of-leadership race as well. All seven of the major candidates are crossing the country denouncing government policies right and left, policies they as current or past Cabinet Ministers helped create. The latest episode has the Hon. Donald Johnston, Minister of State for Economic Development, denouncing his own department's business funding program. He was quoted in the House of Commons as saying: "I get the feeling it's just not working. I believe it has a tendency to build on economic weaknesses rather than on economic strengths."

Phone rates

The Canadian Radio -

Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) finally struck a blow for consumers last week when it rejected Bell Canada's latest application for rate increases. They filed their request on March 28 for a six per cent increase in monthly residential and business telephone bills and a two per cent increase in long distance rates. I believe we are already paying very high rates for the service we get and I agree with the CRTC decision to deny the request and inform Bell that they will consider no further requests until the fall of 1985.

And the Leslie Street Spit is widely recognized as a unique opportunity to recoup some of the ground we have lost to machines. Left as an urban wilderness, it would offer a far more rare and refreshing experience to any and all, than is available within most city limits. As the thriving organization called Friends of the Spit has shown, this opportunity must not and will not slip by unnoticed.

Trent-Severn Waterway news

By May 24 the Trent-Severn lakes in Haliburton and Peterborough Counties reached an average of 94.9% full. This was a gain of 2% on the week and puts these lakes within 0.5% of the 10-year average for the date.

Only minor changes had been required to the Otonabee River flow leaving the Kawarthas, from last Friday, May 18th to Tuesday, May 22. Following this day the flow was reduced again to reach about 51 m(3)/s by Friday, May 25. The Kawartha levels have been holding steady or in a gentle decline despite a small rain at mid-week. A surplus of 7 to 10 cm exists on the lower ones as usual for this time of year.

Most Haliburton lakes are reaching their full levels so that more flow will soon be available depending upon how much rain occurs. This should contribute to higher levels along river reaches especially for lakes between Eagle and Boskung and for Shadow and Silver Lakes north of Cobocok.

BIA levy drops 10%

The levy which members of the Minden Business Improvement Area will pay this year has been reduced by ten percent. Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council liaison official with the BIA, Councillor Gary Kenney, reported to the council May 24 on the general meeting of the organization held May 23.

According to the councillor, this year's budget for the core area business association has been decreased to $4500.

The councillor also reported to the meeting on a number of other activities of the association. He noted that BIA representatives had prepared three brochures promoting the community and area. He said the brochures, which detail summer and winter recreational opportunities in the area as well as a general brochure on the community, are currently at the printer and should be ready for distribution at the Chamber of Commerce information centre, the boundary information centre and by the municipality.

Kenney passed on the appreciation of the BIA for the municipality's support of their fish stocking effort. The township had matched the $500 provided by the BIA to place 1000 trout of varying ages in the Gull River. According to the councillor, the BIA would also like to see the establishment of a fund by the municipality for the purchase of fish for stocking. If the municipality operated the fund, individuals wishing to make a donation could do so and receive a receipt which would be valid for income tax purposes.

The council was also told that the BIA has requested that provisions of the municipality's property standards bylaw be enforced to ensure properties in the downtown area are kept neat and tidy. He said that members of the downtown business association would be receiving a notification of this request in a BIA newsletter.

Finally, the meeting was informed that members of the BIA executive will be meeting with representatives of area lake associations and youth camps to determine how the community can better meet the needs of the seasonal residents. The meeting is scheduled for this Sunday.

Editor:

It is quite encouraging to note the very favourable response to the Walk for Wells. Reports indicate that many residents and visitors to this area will be involved in the Walk. Almost daily a senior citizen is walking in preparation for the big one. Representatives of Federal and Provincial Governments (John Eakins and Bill Scott) and Bernie Nicholls, a member of the Los Angeles Kings Hockey Club have indicated they will be present for the walk, as have individuals and groups from such places as Brampton, Lindsay, Thornhill and Scugog.

After several weeks of planning, everything is prepared for Saturday June 2nd, with registration starting at 7:00 a.m. at Rotary Park in Haliburton. Check points will be well staffed; CB radio car operators will monitor the route and walkers who decide to discontinue will be provided with transportation if necessary. Free pop and oranges will be available at certain check points. Basic medical supplies and toilet facilities will be enroute and the walk route will be well marked.

To insure that the Walk for Wells goes smoothly and safely, walkers should note the following considerations:

(a) Walk always on the shoulder of the road, facing oncoming traffic.

(b) Motorists are advised to drive with extreme caution when travelling on the walk route.

(c) Walkers must respect the wishes of those monitoring the walk.

(d) Make certain to follow the signs along the route.

(e) Aim to finish the route within 7 - 8 hours or discontinue when feeling exhausted.

(f) Remember to have your walk form (be sure not to lose it!) checked at each checkpoint.

(g) Wear shoes and clothes with which you are familiar and comfortable.

(h) Do not litter the route - leave garbage at a checkpoint.

(i) Obtain a receipt for any money which you turned in the day of the walk, or afterwards.

There is still plenty of time to enter the Walk for Wells. Pick up your sponsorship forms at Bowes and Cocks, Minden, Radio Shack, Haliburton, schools, churches, or from a Walk Committee member. Forms will also be available on the morning of the walk. In order not to miss out in this big event, and to show your concern for those who are desperately needing pure drinking water, consider sponsoring yourself if you are in need of a sponsor.

See you in the Walk!
Gerry Feltham,
Walk for Wells Committee.

industry. Tourism Ontario made an excellent pre-budget submission to the Treasurer, but this great industry was hardly recognized. The tax on accommodation will be eliminated to the end of the year for out of province visitors. This will help a little, but the tax should have been removed for everyone, to encourage Ontario citizens to travel in their own province.

This is one of Ontario's biggest industries and I feel they were forgotten in the budget.

Our tourism deficit is at an all time high, some $370 million, and Statistics Canada figures show that American visitors to Canada have reduced dramatically since 1981. It's no wonder, because we tax them to death. The high tax on our gasoline, no exemption on food tax, and unacceptable taxes on alcohol, are keeping many people away. In spite of this, Treasurer Grossman has reduced the Tourism and Recreation budget by 9.2%. The Culture budget is also reduced and, amazingly, so is the budget for the Ministry of the Environment.

A $300 million cheque from the Federal Government has made it possible to reduce the deficit.

I thought Mr. Grossman had a lot of gall to lecture municipal councils and school boards, saying that the payments that his government has made to them has been generous and that they should be able to live with modest increases, "provided they take as firm a stance as this government." Our best value is still at the municipal level and I respect the job they do with such a limited budget. It's too bad that Larry Grossman failed in his bid a few years back to get elected to city council. He would better understand what they are trying to do.

Co-ordinator retires in June

by Marie Wallace

Many of you already know that I will be retiring as Co-ordinator for Haliburton County Home Support Services as of June 15.

In April 1980, when this organization was formed, I was hired to guide and encourage the volunteers to support our senior and disabled people throughout the county. It was a new venture for all of us, but one which we knew we needed. I have found my work very rewarding and it thrills me when I look back and see how many times you as volunteers succeeded in making life worthwhile for someone who became lonely, or depressed and just needed a friend, a smile, an encouraging word, or a favour.

I leave knowing that all the programs - meals on wheels, transportation, wheels to meals, home help, friendly visiting, and fone-a-friend, will continue. They will continue because of 400 caring volunteers, an excellent directorate representing each community, a capable and sweet secretary Karen Dewey, and a newly-hired co-ordinator, Donna Bailey.

Donna is a very caring, well-organized and energetic person who will appreciate your input into this organization. New volunteers are always welcome and if you would like to help others in any of the above-mentioned services, please call Donna at 457-2941; she will be happy to hear from you. If you could benefit from any service, please call - we're here to help you.

I wish to thank each one of you who made Friday such a special day in my life - for your attendance at the beautiful luncheon and for the lovely tributes which were given to me. I was very touched by your expressions and well wishes - thank you again.

Council briefs

Items from the May 24 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council meeting.

The council has agreed to continue the municipal insurance coverage with OME Insurance Brokers Limited. The cost of the total coverage package for the municipality is $11,768.

In discussing the insurance coverage, the council suggested that in subsequent years price quotations be requested at the beginning of each year. This would give members of council time to carefully examine all proposals rather than attempting to decide under an impending deadline. The municipality's insurance coverage is dated from June 1.

Grant rejected

An application by the municipality for an Environment 2000 grant to assist in the development of the wild life park has been turned down. This is the same granting agency which rejected joint Anson, Hindon and Minden/Lutterworth/Snowdon application for clean up of a number of area rivers. The two grants were not related.

Signs

Vandals are causing so many problems with the signs at the Ingoldsby dump that council is exploring the idea of having a main directional sign painted on the pavement of the roadway. According to a report given to council, the signs indicating the location of the dump are disappearing as fast as they are being set in place. Earlier this year it was decided to place the signs high on trees, using a loader to attach them. The process does not appear to have deterred the vandals.

If this latest plan is approved, the problem of the signs being torn down will appear to have been solved.

The council will require the approval of the county roads department as it is their pavement on which the sign and arrow indicating the turn to the dump will be painted.

Gift

Over the objection of Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas, the council has agreed to donate an amount equal to that pledged by Dysart Township council in a collection for a gift for retiring director of education, Doug Hodgson.

Pergolas objected to the move because he felt the council had set a policy of donating a standard amount, $25, whenever a request like this comes

The second programme for Katimavik in Minden started several weeks ago. Participants from across Canada have taken up residence on North Water Street. before the council. His proposal that the council give the standard donation was defeated as the other members of the council endorsed a resolution to give an amount equal to the donation offered by Dysart et al.

Road

The council passed a resolution agreeing to accept a road allowance into the municipal system when it was brought up to stand-ard. The road is a newly constructed access route south of Case Realty office on Main Street.

The road will provide access to property owned by Dean Elliott adjacent to the Minden Marine building.

Dixie Lee loses to Bracebridge

The Dixie Lee soccer team provided Bracebridge Centennials with their first win of the season last Sunday in Bracebridge.

The Haliburton team scored in the first minute of the game when Mike Hatkoski outraced their goalie to a loose ball. There was a collision and the goalie had to be replaced but that was also the last goal

Dixie Lee scored.

Near the end of the first half Centennials scored on a header sent back into the corner of the net from a cross. Midway through the second half Centennials scored again. The Haliburton team had many chances but little luck. Mike Hatkoski headed the ball just past the post. Paul Milne put three corner kicks in a row into their goal area. The score remained 2-1.

It was frustrating to lose to a team that had been struggling, especially following the Haliburton win over Muskoka Sun on the previous Sunday. On that same Sunday, Centennials were bombed 9-2 by Huntsville, if our information is correct.

Haliburton has now the same record as the Centennials of one win and two loses and will face the same Huntsville team here next Sunday. They will remember us, the seventh place team who put the third place team out of the finals last year.

Dixie Lee will practice in Haliburton on Thursday and look for a solid effort against Huntsville here on Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

Lawn bowling season opens

The 1984 Minden Lawn Bowling season got underway with a General Membership meeting followed by a wine and cheese party. There were 72 active and social members present looking forward to another enjoyable summer.

This year there will be bowling each evening Monday to Friday at 7:30 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2:00 p.m.

There are very few openings on Tuesday afternoons and Friday evenings but schedules are completely filled with waiting lists for other times.

On June 8 bowlers will be participating at our club in the Ontario Seniors' Games.

Bruce Armstrong had so many interested members he expects to be running preliminaries for qualifiers for the finals on Friday June 8.

HHSS tennis team champions

The Haliburton Highland Secondary School tennis team won the top honours in the Kawartha championship held last week in Lindsay.

The team from the high school amassed the highest point total to claim the Kawartha Cup. Eight teams took part in the competition.

Among the individual winners were: in mixed doubles a first for Andrew Shapiera and Signe Tashlin; a first in ladies doubles for Tara Davis and Corry Ziorjen; and a second for Gary Vanderstarren in the men's singles competition.

The players now go on to compete in the Central Ontario Secondary School Association championships in Oshawa.

Squash season ends with tourney, dance

by Lyn Winans

This past weekend the Highlands Squash Club celebrated the closing of its seventh season with its traditional tournament, business meeting and dance in Haliburton.

As well as tournament plaques, awards and honourable mention were presented to Ruth Lewis, Betty Perugino and Shirley Rydman for their contributions toward the social and financial success of the club in the past year. Len Creelman was given a standing ovation in appreciation of the super job he did as club president over the last twelve months.

The highlight of the business meeting was Ken Rydman's presentation regarding a possible expansion of the squash club which is to include a complete dancercise/exercise area, lounge, glass-backed squash court, whirlpool and sauna. The expansion committee is hoping to get future financial aid through Wintario but in the meantime are busy carrying out studies and making future plans for the expansion. The hope is to eventually provide an all round fitness and squash facility within our area.

This year's fund raising group has been very successful and will be continuing their campaign by hosting a dance featuring Six Pack on the July 20 - 21 weekend at the Haliburton Curling Club.

As expected, the feature of the tournament was the men's A final, between Ken Rydman, who defeated John Fitzgerald 3 - 2 to make it to the championships, and Dave Willis, having earned his spot by ousting Darrell Stamp 3 - 1 in the semi finals.

Willis has won the event four of the past five years and had to play excellent squash to recover the title from Rydman in a very hard fought match that went five games and saw Willis come out the victor with a score of 10 - 9 in the final game.

All five games were exceptional, but several changes of service with a "nine all" score in the last game provided overwhelming excitement for fans and spectators.

Both gentlemen should be commended for their tremendous effort, ability and the fine entertainment they provided in an excellent set that was competitive to the very end. Next year's event could prove to be even more exciting with players like Stamp, Fitzgerald, Dunn and Heming presently challenging the club veterans.

Eric Dunn won the men's B division by defeating Kelly Mitchell, the new men's C champ. Mitchell, at only 17 years of age is definitely an up and coming contender.

Chris Bishop and Falk Fluegel battled for the D title in another five game set that resulted in Bishop taking the championship.

Out of six competitors in the women's B division Kim Stamp topped Joan McKay in the final to take the title. Women's A winner was determined by a round-robin competition that resulted in Lyn Winans taking the championship and Marilyn Mighton the consolation.

The dance following the tournament and awards was a success despite the attendance of some very tired competitors.

Derrell Stamp, left and Dave Willis warm up for the Men's semi-final match. Willis won the game 3-1 to advance to the final.

Weather forecast includes acid rain readout

-Federation of Ontario Naturalists-

You may have noticed that the weather section of your local newspaper has a new look these days. Weathermen are now providing residents of eastern Canada with an acid rain forecast.

Aimed at raising public awareness of the acid rain problem, the Acid Rain Bulletins prepared by Environment Canada present quantitative information on the acidity of rainfall events across eastern Canada. Together with a qualitative scale which has been developed to make pH readings understandable to the lay public, the service also provides information on the intimate connection between the long-range transport of acid material and meteorological or weather patterns. For instance, it will be possible for individuals to gain a greater appreciation of why certain storms may be more acidic than others (due to their origin) or why some locations in Ontario receive more acid rain than others.

The Acid Rain Bulletin was developed on the basis of a similar index introduced by the State of Maine and utilizes data supplied by the Environment Canada and Ontario Ministry of the Environment monitoring networks. Though its audience will be largely Canadian, the Bulletin should drive home the importance of American legislation to control acid rain, and hopefully spur other affected areas of the U.S. to adopt similar weather services.

Development of the Bulletin by Environment Canada is another feather in the cap of the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain, a national organization representing more than 50 environmental, business, labour and public interest groups, who are pressing for tough controls on acid gas emissions. The coalition saw the effectiveness of the Maine index and quickly succeeded in convincing Environment Minister Charles Caccia, that a Canadian version would be most effective in mobilizing public awareness.

Acid rain reports are not the only innovation in your daily weather reports. Based on the installation of the latest in air quality monitoring equipment, officials of the Provincial Environment Ministry have been able to expand the daily air pollution index service from seven to twenty cities throughout the province, while simultaneously adding ozone, carbon monoxide and total reduced sulphur compounds to the list of substances measured. A new descriptive definition of air quality now complements the simple numerical rating in use for some time.

Dave Willis, left, accepts congratulations and the championship squash trophy from runner-up Ken Rydman at the end of the season.

Guide to eating sport fish now out

The 1984 - 85 editions of the popular publication "Guide to Eating Ontario Sport Fish" were released earlier this month by Ontario Environment Minister Andy Brandt.

These handbooks, published since 1978, report the accumulated results of tests for contaminants in sport fish from inland lakes and rivers throughout Ontario and the Great Lakes.

Substances tested include mercury, PCB, mirex, dioxin (2,3,7,8-TCDD) and a range of pesticides. Consumption advice is based on analyses carried out by MOE's laboratory on a wide range of fish species and sizes from 1270 waterbodies, including 161 locations on the Great Lakes. Health protection guidelines used in this program were developed by medical specialists from Health and Welfare Canada and the Ontario Ministry of Labour.

"With additional test results from 85 new locations and 72 other revisions completed during the past year, the accumulated results continue to confirm that most species and sizes of sport fish from popular angling areas throughout Ontario may be eaten safely," said Mr. Brandt.

The "Southern" edition includes data from 387 lakes and rivers as well as 161 locations on the Great Lakes bordering Ontario (Superior, Huron, Erie and Ontario). The "Northern" edition (north of the French River - Lake Nipissing - Mattawa River line) includes information for 730 inland lakes and rivers as well as the testing locations on Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

Starting with these 1984-85 editions, the guides will be revised and reprinted every two years. In alternate years a supplement will be published to update test results.

Copies of the bilingual books "Guide to Eating Ontario Sport Fish" will be available free of charge after May 18 from regional and district offices of the ministries of Environment, Natural Resources and Northern Affairs. They will also be available, starting in June from LCBO and Brewers Retail outlets in vacation areas, as long as supplies last.

Solving farm problems

- Ag report -

With low returns in the swine industry at the present time, many producers are looking at ways to improve efficiency.

Identifying and improving the most poorly managed aspect of a business can go a long way in increasing efficiency and net profit.

Good management in the feeder barn will not compensate for a small litter size at farrowing time.

How does a farm operator measure management levels in different parts of the farm business?

One method is by troubleshooting the operation. This involves doing a complete analysis. The performance results from the analysis are compared with accepted levels in Ontario. For example, if a producer's average live litter size is 7, this in an indication that improved management is required.

Accurate and up-to-date records are necessary to trouble shoot an operation. Average number of pigs born alive, death loss, number weaned per litter and feed consumption are just a few of the management areas to be evaluated.

With low profit margins, pork producers need to consider the total farm operation.

By analyzing the management level on a regular basis, improvements or setbacks quickly show up.

Comparisons can be made from one year to another.

Information on important management areas and assistance in troubleshooting your operation are available from the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

Help is here

If you are a farmer and in need of help this summer, then why not consider Agri-crew?

Agricrew is a provincial program designed to provide experienced and reliable assistance to farmers during their hectic summer months.

Each crew consists of four students which will be hired within the next two weeks. The crew of four will be available from June 25 until August 17 to perform such tasks as haying, fencing, painting, picking stones and weeding. For a fee of $90 a farmer can hire a crew for an eight hour working day, while the crew provides its own lunches and transportation. Workman's Compensation and all the paperwork is taken care of by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

To obtain more information on the program, or to hire a crew, simply contact Graham Dyer, Agri-crew Co-ordinator, at the Lindsay Agricultural Office at 324-6125, or Zenith 97920

Property owner wants dump closed

A property owner in the Ingoldsby area has requested that the municipal council of Anson, Hindon and Minden consider relocating the dump away from that community. The request was contained in a letter read to the May 24 meeting of the council.

The author of the letter, Joe Curtin, suggested that the dump should be relocated because, "it is polluting tributary streams to Canning Lake, polluting ground water, and by its burning, creating an air pollution problem in the Ingoldsby area."

He noted in his letter that a ministry hydrogeological study supports his claim of water pollution. However the property owner adds, "... although the ministry does not share my concern with the extent of the hazard at this time."

Curtin said that the Ministry of Environment had encouraged him to pursue his interest in relocating the dump. He said the ministry personnel have been given permission to share his correspondence with the council.

The writer suggested the relocating of the dump could be a timely matter since the township was considering an official plan.

"It is my hope that through these efforts, Ingoldsby can be kept a safe, healthy, prosperous and attractive community," the Curtin letter concluded.

The councillors agreed that the information which the property owner had shared with the MOE officials might be of value. They agreed to contact the ministry for more details on the matter.

Agricrews ready to help on farms this summer

This year there are three Agricrews prepared to service the Victoria - Peterborough - Haliburton regions as compared with last year's 2 crews.

After another successful year in 1983, the Agricrew program has been expanded to satisfy the increasing demand of the local farmers.

Agricrew is a summer program operated by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food and funded by the Ontario Youth Secretariat. This program enables students to increase their agricultural experience by working for area farmers during the busy summer months.

A crew consisting of a working foreperson and three members, all between the ages of 16 and 24. Last year these crews tackled jobs such as harvesting hay, picking stones, building and painting fences and clearing brush. A few positions are still open on the crews and applications are available at your high school guidance office or at the County Agricultural Office, and will be accepted until May 18, 1984.

Did you know?

Did you know ... that the Ministry of Natural Resources offers two types of forestry services to private landowners?

The first being the Forestry Advisory Service which is provided free of charge to farmers and other woodland owners who request it.

The program is aimed at managing woodlands for quality logs, fence posts, maple syrup, recreation, wildlife habitat, protection against floods and soil erosion and of water supplies. Your Ministry forester will plan for an area to be planted, mark trees to be cut, contact timber buyers, plan windbreaks and inspect woodlands and write forestry recommendations to the guide owner.

The second is the Woodlands Improvement Act Forestry Assistance Service where the Ministry may enter into agreements with landowners to plant trees on their properties and improve their woodlands. They will analyse soil, consider the owner's objectives, advise on tree species, prepare the work and plant the trees. The landowner must pay for the trees and protect the growing timber.

Please keep in mind that your County Information Centre is here to help people of all ages by answering your questions regarding social, health, governmental and environmental subjects or by quickly referring you to the proper resource.

We are located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emmerson Lumber) in Haliburton and we are open Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And remember, you will never know the answer, until you ask the question.

Go-Kart business is family affair

For most people in the Highlands a ride on go-karts is an interesting diversion or something to occupy young people on a hot summer weekend. For one family, however, the excitement of the small oval track and that tantalizing smell of exhaust fumes that is associated with go-kart tracks, has become a way of life ... a way of life which convinced the Groves family that they should lay some long term plans to eventually pull up stakes in Bowmanville and move to Minden.

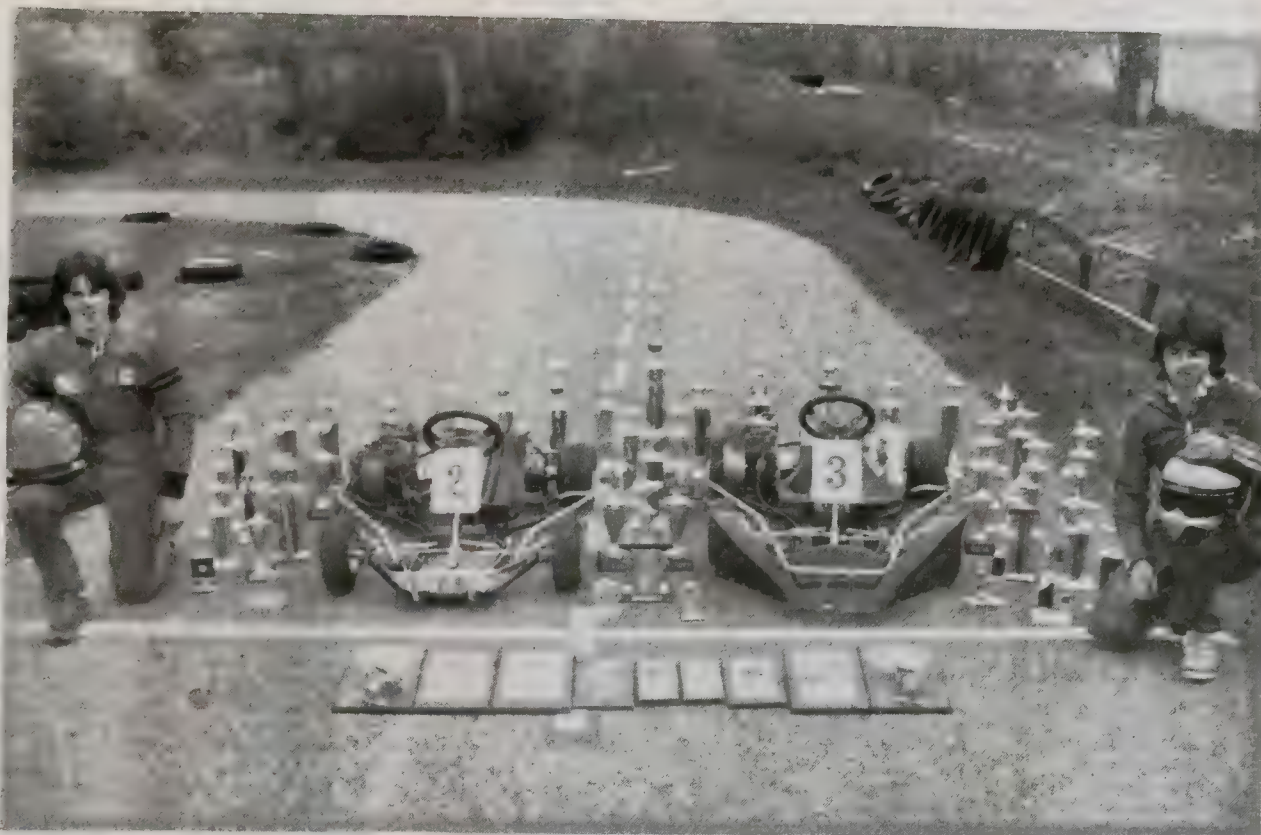

The Groves family, father Brian, mother Carol, sons Geoff and Ted, and Carol's father Lloyd Saunders are the new owners of the Pole Position Kart-Ways off Highway 35, just south of Minden. The Groves family have done more than purchase a Minden area business, they have fulfilled an ambition which began over four years ago, to manage their own go-kart facility.

While their ambition may seem trivial to some, it marks an important point in their interest in go-karting which, up to now has been met by competing in many of the top go-kart races in Canada and the United States.

The family is a member of one of the largest go-kart clubs in the world, located in Whitby. The reputation of the Whitby Kart Club, with 900 members, is so well known in fact that when a competition is held, and the Whitby Club is in attendance, other participants vie for second, third and fourth spots, conceding top performance to the experts from the Lake Ontario community.

Those looking for proof of the club's and family's prowess on the go-kart race track need only examine their trophy case. The shelves are crowded with silver and gold statuettes honouring Geoff's and Ted's competitive ability on the track. Last year Ted, for example, placed third in a competition of 150 junior drivers in Canada. He went on to an international competition in Danville, Virginia, finishing with a third and fifth. Geoff placed thirteenth out of 300 senior drivers in 1983. Along the way both teenagers have accumulated a showcase full of trophies. Most Saturday's Geoff, a grade 11 student and Ted in grade 9, can be found on a go-kart race track endeavouring to add

As this display of trophies and plaques indicates, Geoff and Ted Groves have taken the sport of go-karting very seriously. In four years the young drivers have amassed a trophy case bulging with hardware from their many racing triumphs. The boys are members of the Whitby Kart Club, the largest such organization in the world. They will be assisting their parents in the operation of Pole Position Kartways south of Minden.

Even the family dog enjoys a spin on a go-kart as he perches happily on the lap of Brian Groves.

to their already crowded trophy collection.

With that background in go-kart racing, it was no wonder the Groves family jumped at the opportunity to purchase the Minden Kartways, when they discovered it was for sale. Father Brian, who races as well, says the location was just what they were looking for with a paved track and good potential for future development.

Their plan includes the addition of a snack bar, ATC hill climb area and a mini-golf course. Of course, all these developments will take time.

Brian is a free lance title searcher in Bowmanville while Carol is an accountant in General Motors. At the moment their attention lies in preparing for the busy summer season both here in Minden and at the many competitions in which their sons will take part. But, eventually they plan to make Minden their home and their new business location the home of the hottest racing team in the country.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
REGARDING FOREST MANAGEMENT ON CROWN LANDS
The Ministry of Natural Resources has prepared a draft forest management plan for Crown lands of the Minden District for the period ending in the year 2000. The timber on designated areas of Crown land is grown and harvested on a sustained yield basis to provide employment and forest products for Ontario's economy.
The forest management plan is a document which provides background information on the nature of the local forests and on the factors affecting forest management within them. It also provides a working strategy whereby the forestry objectives of the Ministry of Natural Resources might best be realized within the district. The forest management plan should not be confused with the more specific operating plan and timber licencing plan whose preparation was announced in mid-March of this year.
Persons and organizations who wish to review and comment on this plan prior to its approval may do so up to and including June 29, 1984 by contacting the District Manager, Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0, telephone 286-1521.

CHACE Place News

C.H.A.C.E. has been a busy place this month, with many activities for parents and children. On April 3, Rozanne Hynard provided a large display of her family's collection of children's books, and led a discussion on children's literature.

Many people enjoyed a successful Easter party on April 19. The Easter Bunny provided many interesting moments, including an Easter egg hunt. A pot luck lunch topped off the day.

The "Colours Consultants" have come twice to C.H.A.C.E., and on each occasion twelve people have "had their colours done". The workshop is so popular that we have a return engagement in June, now fully booked, with the possibility of another if there is still more interest. With a contribution to C.H.A.C.E. of $10 per person, this represents a substantial fund-raising activity, as well as a useful service.

You may have noticed a new face at C.H.A.C.E.: Patty Chislett is with us until mid-June on an 8 week job training programme.

Our staff have been attending workshops this month: Faye Maddock, Mary MacDonald, Rozanne Hynard, and director Rosie Kenney participated in "How To Talk So Kids Will Listen, and Listen So Kids Will Talk" presented by Elzine Mazlish and Adele Faber, authors of the book of the same name. Those of us with older children especially look forward to them sharing their experiences in this workshop.

Faye Maddock and Cheryl Bathe took part in a 4-day workshop on Music for young children, which introduces a teaching method involving parents and children with rhythm, singing, and keyboard instruments.

Two reminders: we welcome your memberships: $12 per family gives you access to our book library, toy lending library, a quarterly newsletter, and voting privileges. The next edition of our newsletter is in preparation, and we welcome your articles or submissions before May 31. For more information, come to C.H.A.C.E. or call 457-2989.

Goat society elects executive

by Ernest Hills

On Saturday, April 28, in the Tory Hill Community Centre, the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society held their annual meeting, featuring reports from the past year, and the election of officers for the up-coming term.

The meeting was very well attended, with close to thirty voting members of the society in attendance. After reports from the secretary and treasurer, a discussion was initiated concerning proposed constitutional changes involving the expansion of the executive by one director. The motion for amendment passed, at which time the current executive was dissolved, and nominations were accepted for individuals to fill the positions for the new term.

Elected representatives included: Sharron Greer, president; Ernest Hills, vice-president; Phyllis McHale, secretary; Barbara Chynoweth, treasurer; and the following directors, Dianna Johnson, Ken Alger, and Maurice Bradley.

After the elections followed the establishment of committees for the coming term. Again Maurice Bradley will oversee the Goat Society's participation in the county's 4H program. Barb Chynoweth and Phyllis McHale will head-up our fund raising committee, while Sharron Greer and Maurice Bradley will make recommendations for a chevron marketing committee. Finally, it was decided that the executive committee as a whole will undertake the newsletter, with Barb Chynoweth handling advertising and lay-out.

On May 12, to the dismay of the executive committee, a very poor showing of our membership was on hand for the seminar conducted by Mrs. Holly Furber. That, despite the considerable interest expressed and the urgent need for a more informed membership.

Holly Furber is the author of the independent study program on 'dairy goats' for the University of Guelph, and is renowned as one of the foremost authorities on goats, certainly in Ontario, and likely in North America. Those in attendance enjoyed a slide presentation, accompanied by an informative discussion, with a dialogue on areas of concern or interest.

Informal was the keyword to the presentation, with considerable room for questions or input from the members. A sumptuous pot-luck luncheon highlighted the friendly atmosphere to the day's proceedings, with Holly continuing to share her insights with us.

We would like to thank Holly for her patience and co-operation with our club, while expressing our pleasure in the informative and constructive material she covered. To those who could not find the time to attend, you missed an exceptional learning experience.

Th day's proceedings were followed by a banquet and dance, which although modestly attended, were 'events' in the true sense of the word, with everyone having a relaxed and fun-filled evening, making new friends and sharing the ability to laugh and enjoy. Such things are memories made of.

We would like to express our sincerest thanks to the ladies and gentlemen of the Kinmount Legion Hall for their hospitality; to Phyllis McHale and Barb Chynoweth for excelling in their preparation of the feast; to the band, Whiskey Sunrise, for their terrific music and infectious good spirits; and finally to Holly Furber, who felt so at ease with our organization, we hope you will allow Haliburton to play host again sometime soon.

Dates to remember

Saturday, June 2, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m., the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society is holding a workshop in the Kinmount Fair Grounds, with practical demonstrations of tattooing, disbudding, and many, many aspects of herd health and maintenance, in real practice with knowledgeable individuals demonstrating. A pot-luck luncheon is to be served.

Sunday, June 3, 2 p.m., in the Gelert Community Hall, the Haliburton County Farmers Association's farmers market participants are asked to gather for a final organizational meeting, prior to the opening of the farmers market June 29.

And finally, both the Haliburton County Farmers Association and the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society would like to express their congratulations to Bud and Paula Kirchner on their outstanding achievements and contribution to agriculture in Haliburton County.

Spreading the word

by Marie Wallace

One of the aims of our organization is to "create in the community an awareness of the process of aging and the needs of the elderly". We will have an opportunity to make our community aware of our organization by participating in the Home Show being held at the Arena in Haliburton on Friday evening and all day Saturday, June 8 and 9.

The volunteers who staff our booth will distribute pamphlets which outline the programs which our volunteers sponsor for senior and disabled persons - meals on wheels, transportation, friendly visiting, wheels to meals, fone-a-friend, and home help.

At the booth, as well, will be Vials of Life, a program sponsored by the Canadian

Red Cross Society, Minden branch, and Cold Air Masks which are sponsored by the Victoria - Haliburton Lung Association. Both of these programs will be explained to you at the home show and given free of charge.

We thank all volunteers who will be staffing our booth - your participation is appreciated. We still need about four people to help at the booth, if you are interested, please call us at 457-2941.

Everyone can help our organization by informing people who could benefit from the services which Home Support sponsors. Unless our residents know about "seniors helping seniors", and are encouraged to use the services we will not be effective. Thank you for passing on the word!

Well readers, we have gone to the end of this long holiday. I don't know of too much that happened for I have been away. I spent the holiday in Cobourg with our family, which of course we are always glad to see.

The country is so lovely now, the trees almost leaf out. Although I'm crippled up a bit, I can still get about. I will try and tell you what has happened here at Hyland Crest, different residents have been having special guests. Milly Wood had her family to come with her to dine. She said that there was somebody coming and going, almost all the time.

Margaret Sisson, slipped and fell, on the bathroom floor. Didn't break any bones, but is awfully stiff and sore.

Rev. Ward Taylor, from Haliburton Full Gospel Lighthouse, had a very interesting service in the chapel, the 22nd May day. We thank you both for coming, for Fred Ballard came with music to play.

Tuesday afternoon instead of playing the quiz game, which we usually do, Doris showed us three movies, "Geronimo Jones", "Sweet As A Nut", "The Sixty Seventh Tatoo".

Tuesday the Watson & Smith musicians came with music to play. Entertained us fine, played fine, we had a jolly time.

Oh yes, and while I write this letter we have Winnie Johnston down in bed, but now she's feeling better.

Our attendance down at fun and fitness seems to be getting fewer. The game we played Wednesday morning was won by Chris Precoor.

Dear Yvonne. It was so good to almost hear your voice, your poem about your trip abroad with your father Walter Noice.

You surely have the touch, Yvonne, with the pen. It is so nice to safely have you back with us again.

The dandelions are a great crop this year, all down the line. I asked Doris Robertson if she ever made dandelion wine. She said yes, I did, but I only got a sup. For when I got it bottled it all blew up.

Our hard working ladies they just never quit. They have another quilt set up and are working on it.

We have Jessie Walters back from the hospital. She has been having trouble with her eye. I don't know the trouble, I think it is a sty.

We have a new resident, moved in just next door. We lived near she and her parents many years before. Edna Cowen is her name, we're sure she'll like it here and are very glad she came.

The ACW ladies came all the way from Wilberforce this Thursday afternoon. To thank them for coming, we played them some real lively tunes. They served soft drinks, milk, tea, coffee, cakes, cookies, nice sandwiches galore. They served it so willingly, what could we ask for more.

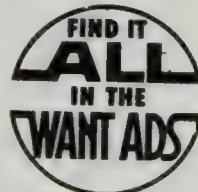

We would like to thank the members of the Kinette club, we don't know their names. For supplying all the new material for playing the bingo games.

And the bingo callers, Thursday night, here at Hyland Crest, were Eldon Deacon and Paul Travers. We would like to say a big thank you to those who come to entertain us.

Friday afternoon, Grace Coburn, Norma Barron, Jean Cox and Fred Ballard too. If they ever quit coming, we would be left feeling blue.

An accident victim was in the hospital recovering from a broken leg. "How are you being treated?" asked his concerned visitor. "Well," replied the patient, "I can't kick."

As reported last week. Yvonne Guida and her father Walter Noice returned from their trip to Britain. Yvonne sent these two anecdotes which we'd like to share with you.

During our trip through England, Scotland and Wales, Harry Simmons, our tour director regaled us with many amusing stories, as well as numerous historical facts on which he is an expert.

When Harry was very young his teacher one day asked him the question "Who pulled down the walls of Jericho? Harry answered quickly, "I didn't!" When his mother came to school to fetch him, his teacher told her what he had said, whereupon his mother replied, "Well, if he said he didn't do it, he didn't." The teacher then went to his father, who was lying in bed looking for a job, and repeated the story. His father, upon hearing this, said "I don't want any trouble, what are the damages?"

At Stratford-upon-Avon, we visited Anne Hathaway's thatched cottage, a lovely cottage made doubly so because of being set in a garden filled with flowers, their glorious colours of every hue. It is interesting to note that the house had been freshly thatched. The thatch is covered with screening in order to discourage birds from nesting. It is an expensive process but will last for years. One can imagine young Will Shakespeare, a tankard of ale and a book under his arm, striding through the narrow streets, coming to court Anne. William Shakespeare was born and raised in a house not too far from where Anne lived.

Tom Elder, former Minden resident, drove his Formula "V" to a third place win in a twenty lap race at Mosport on Sunday. His best lap time was 1:51.1. Tom was awarded a B.E.M.C. trophy for his efforts and will be racing next in Shannonville at the end of June.

Our friend from Club 35, Alex Stevenson, called to give us the latest results from their weekly card party held Monday evenings. Most lone hands - George Alsop, high man - Bill Cowen, high lady - Helen Davis. The door prize was won by Art Verdaam and other winners for the evening were Dean Hodgson, Helen Downes and John Burns.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery go to Diane Cowan of Stanhope Township who is at present in St. Josephs hospital recovering from knee surgery. Diane's cheerful face has been missing from Stedmans and we trust it won't be long until she's back, whole and hearty.

Just A Thought

What about this DNA,
The factor that has all the say,
And which is so divisive?
Depending who's your mum or dad,
Their heritage, and all, to add
To something most decisive.

All your potential it's decree,
And whatever you could be Decided at conception;
Designed in total at it's favour,
Short or tall, and whatever,
Planned with no exception.

Our limits then of course are set
By what forces would be met
Throughout our lives.
These two factors would occasion
The total sum of their equation,
In their opposing drives.

So now I ask you please to name
Who takes credence? Who's to blame
For what we are?
Some of us are born to grief,
There are others born beneath
A lucky star.

Then who, and where, the self made man,
With boastful strut and haughty scan,
And egotistic jag?
There's not to justify his claim,
Whatever fortune or yet fame,
It's but an empty brag.

If blessed with talent and with brain,
To thinking folks it must be plain
That he is doubly blessed.
A grateful mien would here befit
Such gracious modesty would sit
Him better dressed.

Somewhere down that timeless drift
Themists will lift the clouds will shift,
The Gods will chance to smile
On some one mortal choose to shed
A light, a halo, round his head,
As seen once in awhile.

Nanook The Whale

He plunges into a mammoth wave
He's huge! His flukes present a frightening sight -
But he is a gentle creature.
A Sperm whale.
He is intelligent and caring.
His sensors tell him that the herd is near.
He surfaces and blows a tremendous spray, taking in hundreds of fish as he does so.
He is very happy for
His mate has signalled to him that she has a calf - a male!
He swims with renewed vigor toward the herd.
His side bears the ugly scar where a gaff has hooked him, but it has healed and he feels strong and vigorous. A school of dolphins squeal by him, telling him they have just passed the herd. The dolphins are friendly and playful. They dive and leap high in the air in their delight.
He reaches the herd where his mate swims protectively with the calf under her belly. His huge snout surfaces and whirls round and round in pleasure. No one in the herd notices the trawler stationed close by. But suddenly there is a resounding roar. Nanook feels a searing pain in his chest. He fights, but the water is frothy with red foam.
Slowly he feels his strength ebbing and he sinks beneath the waves. Above, the sunset is also red. He squeals a last goodbye to his mournful mate and the little son he never really knew!

Norman McPeake of Gravenhurst. Also with her sister and husband Grace and Ern Voicey at their cottage at Redstone Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Voicey's daughter, Linda, will be visiting a few weeks from Calgary staying with her parents at home and at the cottage.

Two more poems for our little poet's corner this week. Hope you enjoy them.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Some have hidden words or sayings, some do not. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun.
